1 INTRODUCTION

In addition to publishing statistics on a State or Australia-wide basis the ABS also publishes a considerable range of statistics for small areas (that is areas smaller than a State or Territory). This catalogue has been prepared to provide information about what is published and where it may be found. It contains a subject index, an area index, a catalogue number index, a list of ABS publications containing small area data, and a description of those types of small areas that are not readily available from other sources. The Small Area Catalogue is intended as a special purpose supplement to the general purpose Catalogue of Publications (1101.0).

Scope of this catalogue

This catalogue lists all recent publications containing small area data, issued by ABS Canberra and State offices since 1 July 1980, or expected to be released during 1987. Data releases on microfiche and magnetic tape have also been included.

How to use this catalogue

The catalogue is divided into six sections. The first contains, as well as the introduction, information on how to order any publications or maps listed in this catalogue that may be of interest to the user.

Section 2 contains a list of the different types of small areas ABS uses in statistical publications. As most of these types of small area are described in other ABS publications, the descriptions are not repeated here. Instead, the name and ABS catalogue number of the publication containing the description, or an appropriate contact, is given.

The remaining types of small area are described here; wherever possible these types of small area have been related to local government areas, statistical divisions, statistical subdivisions and statistical districts as at the 30 June 1986 Census.

Small areas that are common to all of Australia (e.g. local government areas, postcode areas) are listed first. Other types of areas are used by only one State for the presentation of statistics (e.g. hundreds and counties are used to present South Australian agricultural statistics); these are listed alphabetically by State.

The following statistical maps which may be useful in interpreting the data are available from Information Services in any ABS office. ABS office addresses are listed at the end of this Section.

- 1 New South Wales Statistical Divisions
- 2 Sydney Statistical Division
- 3 New South Wales Statistical Districts
- 4 Victorian Statistical Divisions
- 5 Melbourne Statistical Division
- 6 Victorian Statistical Districts
- 7 Queensland Statistical Divisions
- 8 Brisbane Statistical Division
- 9 Queensland Statistical Districts
- 10 South Australian Statistical Divisions
- 11 Adelaide Statistical Division
- 12 South Australian Statistical Districts
- 13 Western Australian Statistical Divisions
- 14 Perth Statistical Division
- 15 Tasmanian Statistical Divisions
- 16 Hobart Statistical Division
- 17 Northern Territory Statistical Divisions
- 18 Darwin Statistical Division
- 19 Australian Capital Territory Statistical Division

Section 3 consists of a list of those ABS publications containing small area statistics. Magnetic tape and microfiche releases containing small area data have also been included. For each publication the name, catalogue number and frequency of release of the publication are given followed by listings of subjects and small areas included in the publication. The year of release is also given for irregular publications, and the price is given for priced publications (all publications will be priced from 1 January 1988). The list has been compiled for each State and Territory in turn, followed by a list of those publications that contain small area data from more than one State. For instance, a number of publications contain statistics from each of the State capital cities.

Section 4 consists of a subject index of the publications containing small area statistics. When using this index it should be remembered that the last digit of the catalogue number of each publication indicates the State to which it refers. For example, 1304.1 is a New South Wales publication, while 1304.4 is a South Australian publication (see below for further details).

Section 5 consists of an area index, that is, a list of all the different types of small area occurring in ABS publications, together with the catalogue number of each publication in which that type of small area occurs.

Section 6 consists of a list of all ABS publications containing small area statistics. The index is divided into separate sections for printed publications, Census magnetic tape and microfiche releases, and other magnetic tape and microfiche releases. For each publication, the name, catalogue number (or equivalent) and frequency of release is given. The year of release is also given for irregular publications and the price is given for priced publications (all publications will be priced from 1 January 1988).

The ABS Catalogue Numbering System

The ABS Catalogue Numbering System consists of a five digit code (e.g. 5402.3).

The first two digits define the subject of nine broad areas (e.g. 5 represents national accounts, balance of payments and foreign investment, overseas trade, public finance, private finance) divided into nine more precise subdivisions (e.g. 54 is overseas trade).

The third and fourth digits are the permanent serial numbers allocated to publications within categories formed by the first two digits. An allotted number will remain unchanged provided the contents of a publication remain essentially the same. Numbers are allotted sequentially as new publications are released.

The fifth digit, after the full stop, relates to the ABS office which issues the publication. The codes for each issuing office are:

0	Central Office (Canberra)
1	New South Wales
2	Victoria
3	Queensland
4	South Australia
5	Western Australia
6	Tasmania
7	Northern Territory

How to obtain publications

When requesting a publication, please quote the title and catalogue number.

Free Publications

Clients may obtain copies of free publications by calling at, phoning, or writing to the ABS office in their capital city or the ABS Central Office, Canberra.

It should be noted that all ABS publications released after 1 January 1988 will be priced. Refer to "Prices shown in this catalogue" later in this section.

Priced Publications

Copies of priced publications may be purchased over the counter from any office of ABS. They may also be ordered by mail using the form included in this publication. A range of these priced publications (e.g. Year Book Australia, Social Indicators, etc.) can be obtained from Australian Government Publishing Service (AGPS) bookshops.

Clients who wish to receive publications on a regular basis may use the ABS Publications Service. Information on how to use this service may be obtained from any ABS office.

Clients who already use the Publications Service and who wish to amend their requirements should quote their account number when contacting ABS. The account number is shown at the top left hand corner of the address label used to despatch publications to clients.

Renewal notices are sent to all subscribers annually in respect of the subscription year commencing on 1 January. Payment for publications is required in advance and should accompany renewal notices returned to ABS.

An Information Service in each ABS Office

Each ABS office has an Information Service to assist clients. The service is designed to answer enquiries from clients on available official statistics and their usage. The service is also the contact point for clients requiring ABS publications on either an ad hoc or continuing (subscription) basis.

These services may be obtained by contacting Information Services at the ABS office in any capital city. Addresses and telephone numbers are listed at the end of this Section.

Library Access to ABS Publications

Users who wish to consult ABS publications may do so at any State library, at the National Library in Canberra or at any ABS State Office library. Copies are also held by many University main libraries.

Prices shown in this catalogue

As from 1 January 1987 the ABS has introduced a single pricing policy for both counter and surface mail sales of publications. Airmail rates are available on request.

Priced publications issued prior to 1 January 1987 will continue to be shown with two prices for a single issue. The first single issue price is the over-the-counter price, while the second includes packaging and postage at ordinary rates within Australia.

Since the pricing of ABS publications is subject to annual review, the price information shown in this catalogue may be out of date. Current prices applying to publications may be found in the latest editions of:

*ABS Catalogue of Publications (1101.0) and
List of Publications to be Released (1109.0).*

Alternatively, the latest price information is available from Information Services at any ABS office (see the end of this section).

Magnetic tape and microfiche

A number of catalogued releases, listed in Section 3, are available from ABS on magnetic tape and/or microfiche. Information about the scope of each service, ordering arrangements and prices is set out on information sheets relating to individual services. These sheets are available on request by contacting Information Services at any ABS office (see end of this section). Information concerning microfiche and magnetic tape releases from the 1981 and 1986 Census of Population and Housing is included later in this section.

Unpublished statistics

For practical reasons the ABS does not publish all the statistics and other information it has available.

Unpublished statistics are available, on request, for a variety of topics such as population, dwellings, building, imports, exports, shipping etc., in the form of computer printout, microfiche, magnetic tape, specially prepared tables and on electronic media such as AUSSTATS and TELESTATS.

In cases where a considerable volume of data has to be specially extracted or where a regular statistical service is required, a charge may be made.

Inquiries on the availability of unpublished statistics should be directed to Information Services at the ABS office in any capital city (see the end of this Section).

Census of Population and Housing

1981 Census

Final results of the 1981 Census of Population and Housing have been released on microfiche, on computer printout, on magnetic tape and in a series of printed publications and information papers. Small area data containing detailed characteristics of persons and dwellings for collection districts, legal local government areas and larger regions are available on summary tapes, microfiche and computer printout.

Magnetic tape and microfiche releases are included in a separate section in Part 3 of this catalogue (printed publications may be found in the State and Australia listings).

Magnetic tape releases are identified by one of four tape mnemonics:

GDF	(Geographic Data File)
CDMF	(Collection District Master File)
CDSF	(Collection District Summary File)
LGASF	(Local Government Area Summary File).

Further details can be found in publication 2143.0.

Microfiche releases are identified by a batch number in the range 81.001 - 81.702. Further details can be found in Census 81 - Microfiche (2145.0).

1986 Census

Final results of the 1986 Census of Population and Housing will be released on microfiche, on computer printout, on magnetic tape and in a series of printed publications and information papers, progressively from early 1987. Small area data containing detailed characteristics of persons and dwellings for collection districts, statistical local areas, legal local government areas and other geographic regions will be available on magnetic tape, microfiche and computer printout on two conceptual bases:

- (1) census counts on the basis of place of enumeration on 30 June 1986 (identified by prefix of 'C' in microfiche batch numbers); and
- (2) census counts on the basis of place of reported usual residence on 30 June 1986 (identified by a prefix of 'U' in microfiche batch numbers).

Magnetic tape and microfiche releases are included in a separate section in Part 3 of this catalogue (printed publications may be found in the State and Australia listings).

Magnetic tape releases are identified by an ABS Catalogue Number in the range 2187.0 - 2194.0. Technical papers outlining each of these releases are available under the same ABS catalogue number reference.

Microfiche releases are identified by the following ranges of batch numbers. Further details can be found in Census 86 - Microfiche (2185.0).

2 DESCRIPTIONS OF TYPES OF SMALL AREAS USED IN ABS PUBLICATIONS

ABS publishes small area data for a number of different types of small area. Most of these are described in the publication containing the data, and in such cases only the name and catalogue number of the appropriate ABS publication are given here. For the remaining small areas a description of the type of small area and in some instances a list of the areas involved is provided; in other instances a contact point is given.

Australian Wide Small Area Types

Small areas included in the Australian Standard Geographical Classification (ASGC)

The ASGC is a system for the classification of statistical units by geographical areas. Common types of statistical units so classified are households in population censuses and surveys and establishments (e.g. individual farms, mines, factories and shops) in economic censuses and surveys. Once these units have been classified (i.e. assigned ASGC codes) statistics about them can be compiled and published (subject to normal confidentiality restraints) for ASGC geographical areas. Listed below are the ASGC geographical areas, or 'spatial units', which are included in this catalogue.

A more comprehensive description of the classification and of the areas listed below may be found in the Australian Standard Geographical Classification (1216.0).

Census Collection Districts (CD's)

These are the smallest type of spatial unit in the ASGC and the smallest area blocks of which all other ASGC spatial units are composed. They have been designed for use in population censuses and are defined (updated) for each census. They cover in aggregate, the whole of Australia without omission or duplication.

Legal Local Government Areas (Legal LGA's)

These consist of one or more Statistical Local Areas (SLA's) and are the geographical areas of incorporated local government councils, such as towns and shires. In aggregate, these cover only part of Australia. (The major areas of Australia not governed by incorporated local government areas include the northern parts of South Australia, most of the Northern Territory and all of the Australian Capital Territory.)

Sections of State

These are defined (updated) for each Census of Population and Housing and are non-contiguous areas with particular urban or rural characteristics. The following four sections of state are distinguished within each State and , depending on population distribution, within each territory: major urban, other urban, locality and rural balance - the latter two constitute the rural part of each State/Territory.

Statistical Districts (S Dist's)

These consist of one or more Statistical Subdivisions and represent the more important, predominantly urban areas of Australia outside State capital city Statistical Divisions.

Statistical Divisions (SD's)

These consist of one or more Statistical Subdivisions and cover, in aggregate, the whole of Australia without gaps or overlaps. They are used as a large, general purpose regional type spatial unit.

Statistical Local Areas (SLA's)

The SLA is a legal LGA based or equivalent spatial unit which serves as the smallest spatial unit for the publication of economic, social and demographic statistics. They cover, in aggregate, the whole of Australia without gaps or overlaps.

Statistical Regions (SR's)

These consist of one or more Statistical Local Areas and cover, in aggregate, the whole of Australia without gaps or overlaps. They were designed primarily as sufficiently large regional type spatial units which are suitable for the presentation of both population census and labour force statistics within the frameworks for standard outputs from these collections. The minimum size of such regions in terms of population, is 147,000.

Statistical Retail Areas

These consist of one or more Statistical Local Areas within Statistical Subdivisions and cover the whole of Australia without gaps or overlaps. They are defined (updated) for each Census of retail Establishments and used as the smallest type of spatial unit for the publication of retail and certain service industry statistics.

Statistical Subdivisions (SSD's)

These consist of one or more Statistical Local Areas and cover, in aggregate, the whole of Australia without gaps or overlaps. They are used as an intermediate level, general purpose regional type spatial unit.

Urban Centres and (Rural) Localities (UC/L's)

These are defined (updated) for each Census of Population and Housing and consist of one or more adjoining Collection Districts with urban characteristics. They represent, in the case of rural localities, population clusters of between 200 and 999 people and, in the case of urban centres, population clusters of 1000 or more people (including known holiday resorts of smaller size)..

Other Small Areas (not included in ASGC)

Aboriginal Communities

Statistics from the 1981 Census of Population and Housing have been published by Aboriginal community. For the 1981 Census of Population and Housing an Aboriginal community was defined as a centre of population containing 70 or more Aborigines. Further information about these communities can be obtained from the Department of Aboriginal Affairs.

Details of 1986 Census microfiche for Aboriginal Communities have not been included in this catalogue (refer to note under Census of Population and Housing).

Airports

The airports for which statistics have been published are shown in List 1, together with the State and local government area (or statistical division, subdivision or district in the case of the capital cities and Territories) containing each airport.

Local Government Area (LGA's)

The following is the description of this area at the time of the 1981 Census of Population and Housing. It should be noted that since the introduction of the Australian Standard Geographical Classification (ASGC) most local government area data, including 1986 Census, is classified by either Statistical Local Area or Legal Local Government Area.

The Local Government Area is the basic unit used in the presentation of Census data. LGA's correspond in all but a few instances to legal Local Government Authority areas, e.g.. City, Municipality, Shire, District Council. Brisbane, the Australian Capital Territory and the Northern Territory are divided into areas which are treated as LGA's.

National Aboriginal Conference Electoral Divisions

The National Aboriginal Conference was established by the Federal Government to provide a forum for the expression of aboriginal views. At the time of the 1981 Census of Population and Housing, members of the National Aboriginal Conference (NAC) represented 35 electorates throughout Australia. A description of each electoral division can be obtained from the Department of Aboriginal Affairs.

Details of 1986 Census microfiche for NAC Electoral Divisions have not been included in this catalogue (refer to note under Census of Population and Housing).

Ports

The ports for which statistics have been published are shown in List 2 below, together with the state and local government area (or statistical division, subdivision or district in the case of the capital cities and Territories) containing each port.

Postcode Areas

Postcode areas have been developed by Australia Post for the efficient delivery of mail. In urban centres their boundaries generally coincide with suburb boundaries. Further information about these areas can be obtained from Australia Post.

Rainfall Stations and Districts

Rainfall stations are generally located at an urban centre or bounded rural locality. The Bureau of Meteorology has divided Australia into 99 rainfall districts. Further details, including a map of the rainfall districts, are available from the Bureau of Meteorology.

Special Census Areas

Statistics from the Census of Population and Housing have been presented for a number of special areas as well as for more general areas such as local government areas and statistical divisions. These areas have not been described in this publication, but information about them can be obtained from the ABS offices listed in Section 1. The special areas include journey-to-work study areas (Australia-wide), social security areas (Australia-wide), Victorian regional boundaries, Department of Community Welfare Services planning regions (Victoria), Western Port Planning regions (Victoria), Department of Community Welfare districts (South Australia), Department of Labour and Industry areas (Tasmania), Commonwealth Employment Service offices (Tasmania), Education Department catchment areas (Tasmania), Metropolitan Transport Trusts areas (Tasmania) and Fire Brigade areas (Tasmania).

New South Wales Small Area Types

Coal Districts

The Joint Coal Board (JCB) collects statistical information concerning the New South Wales coal industry and performs regulatory functions. For administrative purposes it has placed each coal mine in a district, which is usually centred on a town. Since ABS publishes coal data on a broad basis, it uses groups of the JCB districts. Thus the ABS Northern District comprises three JCB districts: South Maitland (mines in the vicinity of Cessnock), the Singleton-North West district (mines in the Singleton-Muswellbrook area, and near Grafton, Gunnedah and Inverell), and the Newcastle district (mines within a roughly triangular area bounded by Maitland, Newcastle and Wyong). The ABS Southern District comprises mines in the Burragorang Valley and the South Coast district. The ABS Western District comprises the mines concentrated around Lithgow, but includes the mines near Kandos and Ulan.

In general the three principal districts used to publish coal data are not rigidly defined. They are roughly prescribed by their geographical situation in relation to Sydney.

County Councils

NSW County councils are groups of local government areas that are set up to administer some service, such as gas supply or abattoir. List 3 names the county districts in New South Wales, together with the purpose for which the county district was set up and the local government areas within the county district.

3 CATALOGUE OF PUBLICATIONS CONTAINING SMALL AREA STATISTICS

This section consists of a list of those publications containing small area statistics. For each publication, the name, catalogue number and frequency of release of the publication are given. The year of release of irregular publications and the price of priced publications is also given. Section 1 of this catalogue contains further details on pricing.

A list of magnetic tape and microfiche releases containing small area statistics has also been included. These releases comprise a number of optional packages and the price varies according to the package chosen; details can be obtained from ABS offices. In most instances these releases are identified by a microfiche batch number or tape mnemonic rather than a catalogue number.

The catalogue of publications has been compiled for each State and Territory, followed by a list of those publications that contain small area data for more than one state (listed under Australia). The publications are ordered by State, ABS Catalogue Number (or equivalent), subjects and small areas. Magnetic tape and microfiche releases, including separate listings for the Census of Population and Housing (1981 & 1986), follow the Australian publications. Section 1 of this catalogue contains an explanation of microfiche batch numbers and formats referred to in these entries.

4 SUBJECT INDEX

For each subject in this index, the catalogue number, or other identifier for those publications containing small area data on that subject is given. The subject headings listed here reflect the occurrence of these subjects in ABS publications containing small area data, and are thus at varying levels of detail.

Note that microfiche and magnetic tape publications from the Census of Population and Housing (1981 & 1986) are generally identified by a microfiche batch number rather than a catalogue number. Refer to Section 1 of this catalogue for more details.

The index is sorted alphabetically by subject heading. Within each subject heading the sorting of identifiers is in the order:

ABS Catalogue Number, then

1981 Census Microfiche Batch number, then

1981 Census Magnetic tape mnemonic, then

1986 Census Microfiche Batch number

(Note that magnetic tape releases from the 1986 Census are identified by ABS Catalogue Number).

5 AREA INDEX

For each type of small area for which the ABS publishes data, this index lists the catalogue number or other identifier in which the data occurs. The areas reflect the occurrence of these areas in ABS publications, and are thus at varying levels of detail. For example, Geelong region is mentioned specifically because a population count of the region was done and the results published. Any other publications containing information about Geelong can be referenced under the heading "Legal Local Government Area" rather than under "Geelong region". Similarly, those publications containing information about Sydney Statistical Division only can be found under the heading "Sydney Statistical Division", while those publications containing information about all the statistical divisions in New South Wales (including Sydney Statistical Division) are referenced under "Statistical Divisions" but not under "Sydney Statistical Divisions".

Note that microfiche and magnetic tape publications from the Census of Population and Housing (1981 & 1986) are generally identified by a microfiche batch number or tape mnemonic rather than a catalogue number. Refer to Section 1 of this catalogue for more details.

The index is sorted alphabetically by small area name. Within each small area the sorting of identifiers is in the order:

ABS Catalogue Number, then
1981 Census Microfiche Batch number, then
1981 Census Magnetic tape mnemonic, then
1986 Census Microfiche Batch number
(Note that magnetic tape releases from the 1986 Census are identified by ABS Catalogue Number).

6 CATALOGUE NUMBER INDEX

This index consists of a list of those publications containing small area statistics. For each publication, the name, catalogue number and frequency of release of the publication are given. The year of release of irregular publications and the price of priced publications is also given. Section 1 of this catalogue contains information regarding prices.

A list of magnetic tape and microfiche releases containing small area statistics has also been included. These releases comprise a number of optional packages and the price varies according to the package chosen; details can be obtained from ABS offices. In most instances these releases are identified by a microfiche batch number or tape mnemonic rather than a catalogue number.

Magnetic tape and microfiche releases, including separate sections for the Census of Population and Housing (1981 & 1986), are listed following the Australian publications. Section 1 of this catalogue contains an explanation of microfiche batch numbers and formats referred to in this listing.

More details of the ABS Catalogue Numbering System can be found in Section 1 of this catalogue.

A list of the small areas and subjects included in each publication may be found in Section 3 of this catalogue.
